Casa 1923: Art Nouveau Reimagined

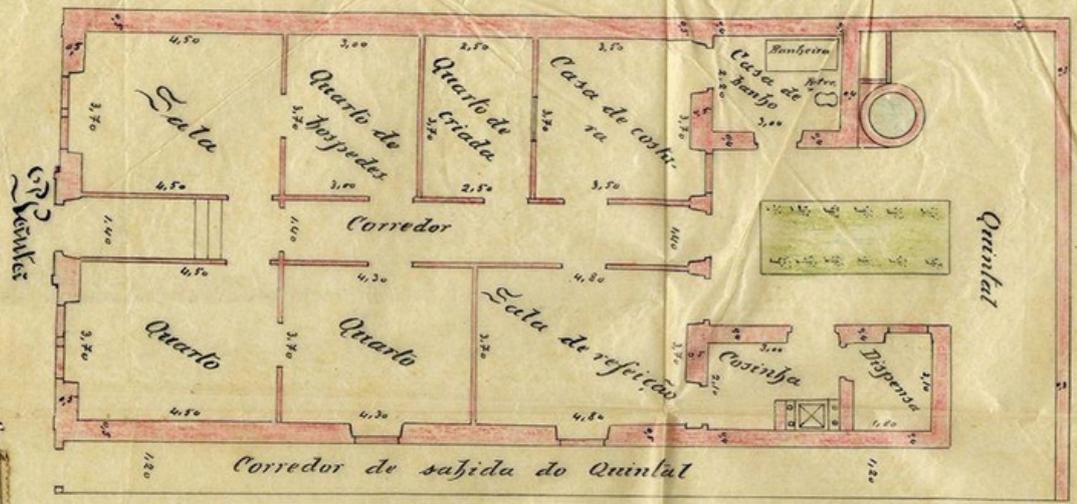

Casa 1923 is a remarkable example of Art Nouveau architecture located in Faro, Portugal. Built in 1923 and recently renovated by PAr – Plataforma de Arquitectura, the townhouse showcases a blend of historical charm and contemporary design.

Architectural Features :

The building features an intricately tiled Azulejo facade with floral and geometric patterns in vibrant colors. Inside, the renovation has preserved key Art Nouveau elements while introducing minimalist design. Original plaster moldings and terracotta floor tiles have been refreshed, maintaining the building's historical essence.

Renovation Philosophy :

The renovation aimed to respect the original volumetry and spatial relationships of the house while enhancing its functionality for modern living. Traditional materials were used throughout, such as stone, wood, and cork for insulation, ensuring sustainability and a connection to local craftsmanship

Casa 1923 has been celebrated for its thoughtful restoration and was awarded the Prémio Nacional de Reabilitação Urbana 2024 in the category for buildings under 1000 sqm.
